Process Plant Start-up and Commissioning

INTRODUCTION

Start Up and Commissioning of new plant and equipment presents both a major technical and management challenge. With this in mind, this programme addresses the technical issues of commissioning and starting up various equipment and asset types commonly found in processing plant environments, process and facility wide commissioning strategies as well as the management issues.

This programme addresses in an integrated manner the key activities involved in the safe, effective and timely commissioning and start-up of a new plant or facility. In this programme you will learn about:

- The six key stages of the commissioning process
- How to balance the technical and management challenges of commissioning
- How to deal with machinery and equipment specific commissioning issues
- How to Manage Risks and solve the types of problems likely to occur during commissioning

PROGRAMME OBJECTIVES

The objectives of this programme are to provide participants with an awareness of the unique challenges associated with plant start-up and commissioning situations, an understanding of the key concepts, tools and techniques that can be used to facilitate the effective planning, execution, control and management of these situations.

Participants completing this programme should be able to contribute confidently to the planning and execution of effective strategies for plant commissioning and start-up in their own specific work and process plant situations.

Objectives include building knowledge and understanding of:

- The six key stages of the commissioning process
- How to develop and overall commissioning and plant start-up strategy
- How to deal with machinery and equipment specific commissioning issues
- How to manage issues dealing with the commissioning of Electrical, Instrumentation and Utilities Systems
- How to develop an overall commissioning management plan, resource plan and budget
- How to apply troubleshooting and problem solving strategies to address issues commonly arising during start up and commissioning
- How to manage risks associated with commissioning

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

This programme addresses the needs of a diverse audience with an interest in Plant Start-up and Commission, including:

- General Managers who have oversight responsibility for Plant Start-up and Commissioning
- Operations and Maintenance Managers with direct line responsibility as well as staff support responsibility for delivering on effective Plant Start-up and Commissioning
- Plant Start-up and Commissioning Managers and Engineers
- Technical personnel involved in supporting Plant Start-up and Commissioning activities
- Supervisors and Engineers, both operations and maintenance who are involved or likely to be involved in Plant Start-up and Commissioning situations

TRAINING METHODOLOGY

Process Plant Start-up and Commissioning is a hands-on, stimulating learning experience.

The programme will be highly interactive, with opportunities to advance your opinions and ideas. Participation is encouraged in a supportive environment.

To ensure the concepts introduced during the programme are understood, they will be reinforced through a mix of learning methods, including lecture style presentation, open discussion, case studies, simulations and group work.

PROGRAMME SUMMARY

The need for Plant Start Up and Commissioning is ongoing in any business that is growing, as new plant is added to expand capacity and to replace obsolete technology.

This programme aims to develop employees through exposure to the training and development experience provided by this programme, to build a "cadre" of knowledgeable and skilled staff who will be able to add value through their contributions to any situations involving plant start-up and commissioning.

They will be able to contribute in leadership or operational roles, both with knowledge and skills to ensure such projects are effectively and efficiently managed in a manner consistent with recognised best practices. A spin off benefit will be their ability to coach and impart learning to their peers and subordinates to the mutual benefit of individuals and organisation.
